I have known and have worked with Mike Sutlovich for over two and a half years and have found him to be an avid and hardworking baseball enthusiast.

During this period of time he has been an invaluable resource assisting me with our scouting efforts in the New York City and New Jersey.

Mike's strength is his ability to evaluate player's abilities. Not only can he identify their strengths and weakness but he has ideas how to maximize or correct those attributes.

He continues to be an invaluable resource to the Seattle Mariners.

Sincerely,

Dear Michael:

Thanks for writing to the New York Yankees. Your dedication to children and helping them develop baseball skills is admirable.

Of course, we would be pleased to help enhance the experience of the children you teach. This letter serves as authorization to use the Yankees marks and likeness of Yankee Stadium in your facility.

Please forward a photograph of how you intend to use the marks or Stadium likeness to my attention at the New York Yankees.

Keep up the good work!

Sincerely,

To Mike's students,

I've had the pleasure of working with Mike "Sut" Sutlovich over the past 7 years as both a student and colleague. It is evident that Mike's knowledge of the game combined with his enthusiasm for teaching young players makes him one of the elite hitting instructors in New Jersey.

I was first introduced to Mike during the summer between my sophomore and junior year at Bucknell University. It is no coincidence that I went from being a role player my sophomore year to an All-League selection at the end of my junior season. Mike not only worked tirelessly to improve my game, but provided me with opportunities to showcase my talents in front of professional players and scouts. Several times we traveled to Arizona to workout with some of the top professionals in the country.

As a coach now for Lehigh University, I work closely with Mike in locating the best talent in New Jersey. He understands what it takes to play at the next level, and I am confident in his ability to prepare young student-athletes to make a seamless transition to the college game. Mike goes above and beyond the responsibilities of a hitting instructor. He cares deeply about his students and wants them to succeed in every facet of baseball and life. I admire and respect him for his passion.

Yours in baseball,

Dear Mike,

We're writing this letter to let you know what an important role you played in our son's life.

Let's start back when Charles was 9 years old. He began taking batting and pitching lessons from you. Charles was always focused and determined when it came to baseball. His love of baseball grew even deeper after a few lessons with you. You had a special knack for building his confidence. You gave him the drive he needed to succeed in baseball.

During Little League, he started on the All-Star team from ages 9-12.

In middle school, we moved to another town and Charles had to start over again to prove himself, especially since he was small for his age. Again, you were there to build his self-confidence.

Charles proceeded to do well, and while in his junior year of High School, went 11-1, losing only to Old Tappan in the state sectional. As a junior in high school, he was awarded MIP. As a senior, he started every state playoff game and won the state sectional. He was written up in the Record as Athlete of the week. He ended his senior year with the MVP award.

Now, Charles is attending Salve Regina University in Newport, Rhode Island. As a freshman on their baseball team, he was able to start pitching in 5 games, in which he left the season with a 2-1 record. He also played 2nd base and DH in other games. We are so proud of our son's accomplishments.

Once again, we would like to thank you for sharing your knowledge and love of baseball together with your positive encouragement to help our son succeed in baseball.

Sincerely,

Debbie & Charles Matarazzo
